CSPA presents the 2009 Scholastic Gold Circle Awards

PRESENTED IN MARCH 2009 CSPA presents 1,854 Gold Circle Awards to Student Journalists for newspapers, magazines, yearbooks and digital media in schools and colleges in March 2009.

Introduction of 2009 2nd Series Scholastic Gold Circle Awards

PRESENTED IN SEPTEMBER 2009 CSPA presents 1,315 Gold Circle Awards to Student Journalists for newspapers and magazines in schools and colleges in September 2009

NEW YORK, NY – The Columbia Scholastic Press Association has announced the winners from the newspaper and magazine categories of its 27th Gold Circle Awards program. This first portion of the Gold Circle Awards attracted 8,091 entries from colleges, universities and secondary schools throughout the United States. Begun in 1984, these awards celebrate individual achievement by student writers, editors, designers and photographers.

Previously, all categories of the Gold Circle Awards were collected annually in November for winter judging. All awards were announced the following March. This year, the existing categories are being collected in two separate batches. Newspaper and magazine categories were collected in June 2009 and judged during the summer. These are the awards being announced at this time.

Yearbook, online and broadcast categories are due to be postmarked to the CSPA by October 30th. They will be judged as in the past in winter and announced by March 2010.

Since the CSPA dates its awards by the year in which they are given, these awards represent the second series of 2009 Gold Circle Awards. The 2009 Gold Circle Awards already given last March represent winners from entries published from November 2, 2007 through November 1, 2008. Today's awards represent entries published in newspapers or magazines from November 2, 2008 through June 15, 2009. The June 15th deadline will remain in place for the foreseeable future for newspaper and magazine categories.

Student journalists submitting entries into the awards chose from as many as 155 available categories for individual or staff entries in newspaper and magazine. All awards will be mailed to the publications during November.
