Awards for Student Work

Gold Circle Awards: Scholastic Recipients

NEW YORK, NY - The Columbia Scholastic Press Association's 15th Annual Gold Circle Awards program, the largest awards competition for individual achievement for student writers, editors, designers and photographers, attracted 10,725 entries from colleges, universities and senior high schools throughout the United States and awarded 1,057.

Awards lists were distributed at the Association's two March conventions-the 74th Annual Scholastic Convention for junior and senior high schools (March 18-20) and the 20th Annual College Media Convention (March 18-21) both in New York City. The actual awards were made available to those winners present at the two conventions. Winning students not in attendance will receive their awards by mail beginning April 1.

"Beyond the considerable numbers involved, the Gold Circle program represents a commitment by the Association to encourage and recognize student efforts in journalism," Edmund J. Sullivan, CSPA Director, said.

"The hard work and dedication these young men and women have invested in the student press will serve them well in whatever endeavors they attempt in the future."

Seventy-seven categories for individual and team entries were offered to recognize individual excellence by student journalist working on newspapers, magazines and yearbooks.
