Gold Circle Awards: Scholastic Recipients

NEW YORK, NY – The Columbia Scholastic Press Association’s 23rd Gold Circle Awards program, its annual competition for individual achievement by student writers, editors, designers and photographers, attracted 12,482 entries from colleges, universities and secondary schools throughout the United States.

Entries were accepted from student newspapers, magazines, yearbooks and videos either originally printed or broadcast from November 1, 2004 through November 1, 2005. Student journalists working on these print or electronic media chose from as many as 75 available categories for individual or staff entries

Students from high schools and middle schools submitted 8,530 individual and staff entries in their division and college student journalists sent 3,952 entries in the same 75 categories in the separately judged collegiate division

Award lists were distributed at two spring 2006 conventions—the 82nd Annual Scholastic Convention for junior and senior high schools (March 15-17) and the College Media Convention on March 18, both in New York City. The actual award certificates were also made available to those winners present at the two conventions. Winning students not in attendance will receive their awards by mail beginning March 28.

“Columbia is proud to give these awards to these energetic and talented student journalists,” Edmund J. Sullivan, CSPA Director, said. “We congratulate them on their enterprising work.”

The complete listing of awards can be found at <http://www.columbia.edu/cu/cspa/> under “Awards.” Please look for either “Scholastic” or “Collegiate” for appropriate results. Archive files of prior years’ awards are also available at that website.
